B. Pre-Service and In-Service Training Requirements

1. Communications Officers shall receive pre-service training on their duties and obligations as emergency communicators.
2. All civilian personnel will receive KCJIS Security Awareness training every three years.
3. The department may provide opportunities for annual training to all civilian employees. Such training is intended to update skills and increase knowledge and overall job performance. At the Police Chief's discretion certain in-service training classes may be deemed mandatory for civilian employees.
4. Training for employees who often work directly with the public (i.e. Communications Officers, Administrative Assistants, etc.) may be offered training regarding methods and techniques for successful interpersonal communication or customer service.
